The UNCC Student Coalition is a student organization focusing on organizing and supporting our local communities for racial, social, and climate justice. This is a student lead organization that is dedicated to empowering and creating a network of youths working to improve their futures. We offer training opportunities, leadership development programs, and an abundance of other community-orientated skills. We strive to emulate other successful student-led organizations that have advocated for a fairer and more just world. We focus on allowing students to get together to organize and support their communities for movements such as racial, social, and climate justice.

The purpose of the homepage page is to provide advertise a student organization that allows students to get together and organize a coalition. We also introduce the campaigns to the users. If they are satisfied and supportive. There are about us and a mission section to help the user understand more about the website. Then we will provide the coalition pages with events/news, our team, sign up for a new member and contact us link. I have applied the bxSlider to make a slide show to highlight pictures to users understand what we have done. I used Accordion to create a frequently asked question to help the user who has the same regular questions. We have the donation link at the bottom. They can click on the link donation where we can navigate to the official donation page. I used JSON file for Events and Member pages to help easier to get the information and easier to update. I also used HTML form for sign-up pages. It is really useful for using a different type such as date, email, password to create a form.

UNCC coalition is a place where students can collectively organize and support their communities through various social movements such as racial, social, and climate justice. With the recent Covid-19 crisis, it's become apparent that students lack a proper voice as it pertains to the decision that UNCC makes, and I believe that we as students should have a voice in our school's decision. Hopefully, the student coalition can empower students to have a greater voice in all aspects of their lives. The UNCC coalition website is created to help the user to understand the purpose of the page, follow all the events on campus, and get involved with the organization when the user signs up.
